Pre-Departure Orientation in China
The University of Michigan (U-M) International Center is excited to meet incoming international undergraduate students during one of our Pre-Departure Orientation Programs in China. These free events will be in Beijing (June 15) and Shanghai (June 22) and are open to any incoming U-M student who currently lives in China and will be beginning their undergraduate degree program Fall 2019.

To sign up for an orientation event, admitted students must have paid their enrollment deposit and set up their U-M uniqname and password. Students can only attend one Pre-Departure Orientation event.

The U-M International Center has invited representatives from the Chinese Student and Scholar Association (CSSA) to attend the event, as well as several other current U-M Chinese students and alumni to participate on panels and answer questions throughout the event.

The China Pre-Departure Orientations are designed to help students and their family members gain valuable information about the University of Michigan, which will include, but is not limited to:

- Traveling to the United States
- Immigration/Visa Information
- Health Insurance and Wellness Services
- Housing Information
- Banking Information
- Cultural Adjustment Tips
- Tips for Academic Success
- Job/Internship information

This Pre-Departure Orientation is an optional addition to the orientation requirement for new students. You should still sign up for International Student Orientation [7] through the Office of New Student Programs August 26-30, 2019.

If you have any questions, email icenter@umich.edu [8].

We look forward to seeing you in Beijing and Shanghai!
