8/6/2020: State Department Changes Travel Advisories but COVID-19 Entry Restrictions Remain in Place

On Thursday, August 6, the State Department [1] and the Centers for Disease Control [2] made some changes to their advice and recommendations for U.S. travelers planning travel from the U.S. to other countries.

There have not been any changes to the COVID-19 entry restrictions [3]. Foreign nationals who have been in China, Iran, the Schengen region, the United Kingdom, Ireland or Brazil during the past 14 days still may not enter the United States.
